the advantages of the internet in 21st century

Internet generally is the only thing that coordinate the world's objectives for today and is very important because of modern technology take part the development of the world and the world is going to reach free communications and internet that cover the problems related to communication. The benefits of the internet is so important and the world one of the most pillars that the world stand is called internet. Internet helps the people to easily communicate and understand people with different continents and they are speaking and sharing ideas like they are one table, and we can say internet is the ability of the world. Internet mostly helps the society in three sides which are: Business, Education, and Relationships

Business side internet can influence and develop trade because of today business without internet is going to decline and out of the market, so internet improve business and there's large business companies those their service and delivery passing with technology and internet way and one of that business companies is famous company called "Ali- baba company" so the influence of the internet in business sector is so essential and the business will increase in this 21st century because of the internet.

Education system is developed by internet and education was hard and tough because of the availability of the internet was so hard, but in today education becomes easy and that reason is the internet and the modern technology. Educational and the development of the person depends of the internet in this 21st century. The world was recognise illiteracy person someone "who doesn't read and write something" but today illiteracy person is someone who doesn't use internet and technology. Also internet become eay education tools and you can learn something the world in your own room because of the internet.

Relationship way the internet took part to communicate people live and reside different continents and they were making any kind of relationship and they have ability to talking 24 hrs a day because of internet can make easy. Past centuries there was a problem of communication and the relationship and it was hard to make connection with someone who you don't know and even it was hard and tough to communicate someone you know, but today you have ability to communicate someone you know and who you don't know both and that why internet is inevitable for today.

Finally without internet the world is nothing and dark and the internet is necessary and the world is need sufficient internet that any person can use with free out of fee and one of the world's ambition is called to find sustainable internet and technology, and I said everyone must learn the use of internet and take advantage to build and improve his/her self.
